

Ensuring your safety

- To ensure your Safety, adjust your daily routine by changing the routes whereby you travel or drive to work, school or other events;
- Be on guard for strange persons or vehicles in your neighbourhood;
- Keep close contact with your family members throughout the day, always know where they are or where they are going;
- Always scan your residence before getting out of your vehicle or entering your premises and;
- Never disclose your personal information or daily whereabouts to untrustworthy persons or when in doubt.

Why do officers receive threats?

- Doing the right thing - reprimanding an inmate, removing illegal or unauthorized items from inmate's possession and, refusal to traffic items for / to inmate(s).
- Doing the wrong thing - contributing to trafficking of illegal or unauthorized items, denial of inmate's privileges or requests, failure by corrupt or rogue officers to deliver as promised and; abuse of force.

The Prison Service strongly condemns and any acts of intimidation or threats made to its officers and will continue to support its officers in doing the right thing.

However, officers who do not conform to prison rules and the prison officer's Code of Conduct are reminded that doing the wrong thing can bring about harm and endanger the lives of their families, colleagues and other individuals.
